PREFACE

The Philippine Publishers International Standard Book Number (ISBN) Directory contains an accumulated list, from January to December, of newly Registered Publishers in the Philippines. The Directory is prepared annually by the Bibliographic Services Division and it is arranged by geographic. Articles at the beginning of a firm's name have been generally ignored.

The Publisher's name appeared on the list is based on the documents submitted by the publishers.

The staff exerted effort to verify the information given in this volume, if some errors or name have been inadvertently omitted, such omission, if brought to the attention of the staff, is highly appreciated and shall be corrected in the next edition of this directory.

This work was done between the interval of the current national bibliographic activities and a cooperative undertaking of the Bibliographic Services Division staff, namely: Jennifer B. Dimasaca, Danilo B. Fernandez, Ira B. Albalos, Marie Joy H. Bestoir, Joel P. Lascano, Romnick Henric Henry M. Gayanilo, Ma. Loreta M. Go and Gabrielle Josephine M. Napao.

INTRODUCTION

WHAT IS ISBN?

ISBN stands for International Standard Book Number. It is an internationally recognized system whereby code numbers are assigned to books for easy identification and speedy exchange of information about them among all segments of the book industry and allied sectors. Specifically, it is a unique and unchangeable code number assigned to one title, one binding or edition of a work published by one publisher.

WHO IS THE PUBLISHER?

A publisher is the individual or corporation responsible for all stages in the creation, production, dissemination and marketing of digital or printed publications. The publisher is normally responsible for the content and for any financial risk involved in the process. Authors may be their own publishers, taking on the above functions themselves; this is known as self-publishing.

Self-publishing is the publication of a book (digital or printed) by its author without the involvement of an established publisher. The author takes the financial risk and is responsible for the entire process. The author may outsource all or part of the process to companies that offer these services. In the case of self-publishing, the author is treated as the registrant/publisher and may be assigned a registrant prefix and appropriately sized range of ISBNs or, where an ISBN registration agency has reserved a range of numbers for assignment to small and self-publishers, a single ISBN from a shared prefix.

ISBN IN THE PHILIPPINES

The National Library of the Philippines was designated as the Philippine ISBN Agency by the Book Development Association of the Philippines (BDAP), Philippine Educational Publishers Association (PEPA) and the Philippine Library Association (PLA) in July 1978. In 1981, the national agency became operational. It is responsible for the implementation and administration of the ISBN system on behalf of all publishers in the country. The ISBN is an identifier and does not convey any form of legal or copyright protection.

SCOPE OF ISBN

Recognized in more than 160 countries throughout the world, the International Standard Book Number is a clear identifier that is potentially machine-readable. The ISBN denotes a particular monographic publication uniquely and should, therefore, be associated with it from early production stages. An essential instrument in production, distribution, sales analysis and bibliographic data storage systems in the book trade, ISBN is also of vital importance to library information management.

ISBNs are assigned to monographic publications, including related products such as publications available as sets or as completed series that are available to the public, whether those publications and related products are available on a gratis basis or to purchase. In addition, individual sections (such as chapters) of monographic publications or issues or articles of continuing resources that are made available separately may also use the ISBN as an identifier. Provided that the publication qualifies for ISBN assignment, it is of no importance in what product form the content is documented and distributed; however, each product form and variation in product form detail and/or product form feature and/or usage constraint should be identified separately.

Examples of types of monographic publications eligible for ISBN are:

- Printed books and pamphlets (and their various product forms)
- Braille publications
- Publications that are not intended by the publisher to be updated regularly or continued indefinitely
- Audiobooks (talking books) either on a physical carrier or accessible on the Internet for download or streaming
- Digital publications (e-books) either on physical carriers (such as machine-readable tapes, diskettes, or CD-ROMs) or on the Internet (for download or streaming)
- Digitized copies of printed monographic publications that are available in the supply chain
- Microform publications
- Educational or instructional software, films, videos, DVDs, transparencies either on a physical carrier or accessible on the Internet for download or streaming
- Mixed media publications where the principal constituent is text-based, e.g. book with CD or book with DVD
- Individual articles or issues of a particular continuing resource where these are made available separately (but not the continuing resource in its entirety)
- Art books and illustrated books with a title page and/or text or captions

- E-book apps provided that they have significant textual content and can be considered a monographic publication and are available to the public. Pictures, moving image and sound may be included
- Maps and atlases

Some examples of the types of material NOT eligible for ISBN are:

- Continuing resources treated in their entirety as bibliographic entities (individual issues may qualify for ISBNs)
- Abstract entities such as textual works and other abstract creations of intellectual or artistic content
- Printed or digital materials that are intended for marketing or promotional purposes only such as advertising matter, widgets and the like
- Printed music
- Art prints and art folders without title page and text
- Personal documents (such as a digital curriculum vitae or personal profile)
- Greetings cards
- Music sound recordings
- Software, films, videos, DVDs or transparencies that are intended for any purpose other than educational or instructional
- Digital bulletin boards
- Emails and other digital correspondence
- Games
- Customized or personalised books not intended for general availability

HOW IS THE ISBN 13-DIGIT BUILT-UP

Since 1 January 2007, national ISBN registration agencies only provide ISBNs that consist of 13 digits, comprising the following elements:

- GS1 element
- Registration group element
- Registrant element
- Publication element
- Check digit

When printed, the ISBN is always preceded by the letters “ISBN.”

Note: In countries where the Latin alphabet is not used, an abbreviation in the characters of the local script may be used in addition to the Latin letters “ISBN.”

The ISBN is divided into five elements, three of them of variable length; the first and last elements are of fixed length. The elements should each be separated clearly by hyphens or spaces when displayed in human readable form:

ISBN 978-971-93531-0-2

or

ISBN 978 971 93531 0 2

Note: The use of hyphens or spaces has no lexical significance and is purely to enhance readability.

The number of digits in the second, third and fourth elements of the ISBN (registration group element, registrant element, publication element) varies. The length of the registration group element and of the registrant element is relative to the anticipated publishing output of the registration group or registrant. When these elements are short in length it indicates that the output of the registration group or the registrant (or both) is expected to be a large number of publications.

GS1 element

The first element of the ISBN is a three-digit number that is made available by GS1, formerly EAN International. Prefixes that have already been made available by GS1 are 978 and 979, but there may be a further prefix allocation made in the future as required to ensure the continued capacity of the ISBN system.

EXAMPLE: 978

Registration group element

The second element of the ISBN identifies the country, geographical region or language area participating in the ISBN system. The length of this element varies but may comprise up to 5 digits.

Registration group elements are allocated by the International ISBN Agency.

EXAMPLE: 978-971

Registrant element

The third element of the ISBN identifies a particular publisher or imprint within a registration group. The length of this element varies in direct relationship to the anticipated output of the publisher and may comprise up to 7 digits. Publishers with the largest expected title outputs are assigned the shortest registrant elements and vice versa.

Potential registrants apply to the ISBN registration agency responsible for the management of the ISBN system within the country, region or language group where they are based in order to be assigned registrant elements that are unique to them. Once they have exhausted the allocation of ISBNs that is linked to their registrant element, they may be assigned an additional registrant element providing further allocations of ISBNs. (See 14.4 for further information on allocation of ISBN registrant elements.)

Publication element

The fourth element of the ISBN identifies a specific edition of a publication by a specific publisher. The length of this element varies in direct relationship to the anticipated output of the publisher concerned and may comprise up to 6 digits. Publishers with the largest expected title outputs are assigned the longest publication elements and vice versa. To ensure that the correct length of the ISBN is maintained, blank digits are represented by leading zeros.

EXAMPLE 978-971-93531-0

Check digit

The fifth element of the ISBN is the check digit. This is calculated using a modulus 10 algorithm. (See Appendix 1 for calculation method or contact your national ISBN registration agency for advice.)
